It is our great pleasure to recommend and heartily endorse Ed Churchman as an architect and construction advisor. We completed our vacation home project in South Fork, Colorado in March of 2010 and are continuing to be amazed and delighted with the result. We began the process with the purchase of a lot in Bear Creek Estates in June 2008, and Ed was retained as our architect. His attention to detail was excellent in every way possible, beginning with the orientation of the house on the lot to take advantage of the magnificent views up and down the valley and continuing throughout the whole building process.

Ed was sensitive to our desires for climate control and efficiency requirement for the harsh winter season in South fork and designed the project with those factors in mind. One of our major requests was for the exterior of the house to be as maintenance free as possible and he was able to execute the design to our complete satisfaction.

With the use of the Internet and digital photos, Both Ed and our builder, Brent Chapman, were able to thoroughly communicate throughout the process so that we did not have to physically be on the site more than once a month. There was only one significant change to our original plans which involved a rearranging a staircase so the attic space would be easily accessible for current storage and then available for finish-out as a bunkroom. We are very pleased with the result that Ed was able to accomplish for us and are currently in the process of finishing the space.

If you have any questions regarding our construction project and our experience with Ed, please do not hesitate to contact us. Finally, we continue to be friends with both Ed and our builder and would use Ed's architectural services and Brent's construction expertise for any future projects.
